

HARRY COVERDALE'S COURTSHIP, AND WHAT CAME OF IT.

A reproof for the levity with which Emily spoke, rose to her mother's lips; but Mrs. Hazlehurst was a sensible woman as well as a good one; and so, being able to distinguish between the exuberance of high spirits and a scoffing turn of mind, she only murmured, "Silly child," and shook her head with a reproving smile.

When Alice returned to the drawing-room, she at first imagined it to be tenantless; but on looking more attentively, she perceived the tall figure of Harry Coverdale standing with folded arms in the recess of one of the windows. So noiselessly did she enter that Harry whose face was turned away from the door, was not aware of her approach until she was within a few yards of him. As, with a sudden start he looked round she was surprised to observe the traces of deep emotion visible on his features, which were usually characterized by an expression of so completely opposite a nature. With a murmured apology for intruding on him, Alice was about to withdraw, when Coverdale hastened to prevent her.

"Do not run away," he said quickly; then continued, "You are surprised to see me looking sad; I think I should like, if you will permit me, to tell you the cause. It is so seldom I meet with anybody to whom I could talk about her,—people in general would not understand me, but I feel an instinctive certainty that you will. It is such a lovely night, would you object to come out? Your cousin, Miss Marsden, is already enjoying the moonlight." As he spoke, he pointed to a white figure pacing, with bent head and measured steps, along a terrace-walk on the farther side of the lawn. Throwing a shawl over her head to protect her from the night dew, Alice signified her consent, and opening one of the French windows, they descended into the garden. For some minutes they strolled on, side by side, without speaking—the silence at length becoming embarrassing. Alice broke it by observing,—

"I must not forget to deliver mamma's thanks for your kindness—you carried her so easily and carefully, she says, she could almost imagine you must have been accustomed to such an occupation before."

Harry smiled a melancholy smile. "That was what I was going to tell you," he said; "only when it came to the point, I felt as if it were impossible to begin—carrying Mrs. Hazlehurst brought back such a own poor mother became perfectly helpless, and I used to carry her like a child from room to room. I was only sixteen when I lost her, and except my brother, I have never had any one to love since; and, though Arthur is as good a fellow as ever breathed, and all that one can wish a friend to be, yet somehow, whether it is the difference between a man's mind and a woman's, or what, I cannot tell, but there are things I've never talked about with anybody since my mother's death, because I've felt that nobody else could understand me—perhaps if she had lived I might have been more what I sometimes wish I were—less rough, and—but I do not know why I should bore you with what must be singularly uninteresting to you."

"Pray, go on," replied Alice; "I have heard so much of you from Arthur, that I always hoped I should some day know you, and that we might be friends; but—Here she stopped, apparently embarrassed how to proceed."

Harry came to her assistance—"But when you saw me I made myself so disagreeable, that you naturally repented ever having wasted a thought upon such an uncultivated savage. Is not that what you would have said? Well, you are quite right; I deserve that it should be so."

"British," suggested Harry.

"So unjust to yourself again," resumed Alice.

"You are very kind—kinder than I deserve by far," replied Coverdale. He paused, then continued, "I don't think I was naturally such a bear; but from childhood I have had to battle with the world on my own behalf. Did Arthur ever tell you any of my earlier history?"

"No, he often alluded to it as curious, but said we ought to see first, and then we should understand it better and care more to hear it," was the simple reply.

Harry smiled—"The only romantic episode in my career occurred when I was a very young boy," he said, "so young, that if I had not heard the story over and over again from the mouth of my late uncle, the old Admiral, I should scarcely have remembered it. To enable you to comprehend the situation properly, I must trouble you with a few family details.—My grandfather had two sons—the Admiral the elder, and my father the younger. My father, when a lieutenant in a marooning regiment, fell in love with a very pretty, amiable, but portionless girl; my grandfather desired him to marry an heiress, my father refused and urged his affection for another; my grandfather grew imperative, my father re-usant;—my grandfather stormed, my father persisted; and the affair ended by my father marrying his lady-love, and my grandfather disinheriting him for so doing. The natural consequences ensued: my grandfather devoted his fortune and influence to my uncle's advancement, and at the age of fifty he became an admiral; at the same age my father found himself a captain existing on half-pay with a microscopic pension and an incurable sound in his side as rewards for serving his country. England expects every man to do his duty, and recompenses him with honorable starvation. As my father's health decreased, his expenses increased; unpaid doctors' bills stared him in the face and butchers and bakers grew uncivil and importunate.

At my grandfather's death, he left every farthing he possessed to his eldest son. Angry at the injustice, my father refused his brother's offer of an allowance, and unwisely determined to dispute the will. Accordingly, he lost his cause, and irritated my uncle to such a degree, that he refused to hold any further communication with him. When I was approaching the august age of ten years, and affairs seemed to be coming to a crisis, by some chance, I, playing with and apparently absorbed by a regiment of tin soldiers, happened to be present at a family committee of ways and means. During this colloquy, the unfortunate disagreement between the brothers was talked over and lamented by my mother, who exerted all her eloquence to persuade my father to write to the Admiral and inform him of his failing health & ruined fortunes, and trust to his generosity to forgive and forget the past. But my father's pride stood in the way. He would willingly have been reconciled to his brother, if he had not required pecuniary assistance at his hands; but the consciousness of this necessity rendered him inexorable. So finding his wife's arguments unavailing, he adopted the usual resource in such cases—viz., he talked himself into a rage; and flinging out of the room, slammed the door behind him, leaving my mother and me te

The Daily News.

NEWPORT: Published every morning (Sundays excepted) BY GEORGE T. HAMMOND, At 123 Thames Street: MONDAY, JULY 11, 1859.

Oliver Ditson & Co. have published the following music: The Cuckoo Polka, by A. Herzog. This Polka possesses a melody pleasing, well constructed, out of the beaten track of modern composers, of much merit, interspersed with representations of the notes of the nightingale, Katydid, and cuckoo. It is written in G, and C. and will require some little practice, but will please.

India Rubber Polka, by Forstsch, will prove some difficult in performance, but when well played will prove to be inspiring to both players and listeners.

The Captain, a humorous song, written by "the Florences" and by them sung both in Europe, and America. It is in melody easy and pleasant, with an accompaniment appropriately written by T. Corner.

The Soldier's Polka, Charles D. Albert. The composer has prefaced this Polka with a long introduction, very good, but difficult. The Polka proper, has a pleasant melody, not very difficult, worked out in good form, and will not disappoint the admirers of this diligent, popular writer.

Bonnie Allene, by T. Brigham Bishop. Bishop has done much to supply the Guitar with music, upon which instrument he performs well. He in this instance, presents a pretty flowery melody, and song of the sentimental style, well united together, with a harmony very simple, and open. To such as desire a song simple, easy, flowery, not requiring much effort for its performance, this will give satisfaction.

Glad summer comes, by Verdi. This Air from Luisa Miller, is calculated for a Tenor voice of low notes; being written in G, and running down to B. It possesses a prominent, well developed melody, slightly difficult, and of a minor shade, well performed it must be effective.

La Mariana Galop, arranged by T. B. Hielmsmuller. This is No 1 of "Haute Volee," a set of fashionable dances now being performed by the orchestra at the Ocean House, and all arranged by the same able and popular writer. No one has ever succeeded in pleasing the "Haute Volee," and other lovers of the dance who do here congregate, anything like as well as has Mr. H., and we predict that this collection will be equally pleasing with previous efforts.

One Hundred songs of Ireland. This is a collection of the best melodies of Irish composers, such as Lover, Crouch, Luley, besides many, the authors of which are unknown, with their appropriate moods, and all very cheap.

The Home Melodist, is a collection of popular songs and melodies sold also very low, in order to gratify the million.

Haydn's Creation, edited by Novello, and beautifully printed, and sold for 75 cents! All the members of our choir, and such others as desire to cultivate a pure taste, can do no better than practice the beautiful and excellent music of this immortal composition.

Messrs. O. D. & Co., have also just opened a catalogue, which shows how extensive their list of publications is, & makes it evident that they are by far the largest publishers in America.

All the above works are for sale at Dr. Wood's, City Music Store, No 83 Thames St.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Excursion to New Bedford.—Fifty cents will take you to New Bedford and back to-day, on the steamer Governor, being one of the finest opportunities that will occur this season for an outside excursion. See advertisement.

A friend at our elbow suggests that for a "feeding place," there is nothing in New Bedford like the Parker House, and speaks in the highest terms of the proprietor, James Wing, Esq., and his attentive clerk.

GENERAL NEWS.

On Wednesday evening, as a gentleman connected with the office of the New York News was crossing the park in that city, he was attacked by a party of rowdies, who attempted to steal his watch and chain. The thieves of the metropolis are becoming bold.

Jacob Green lives in New York, and keeps a second hand clothing shop. He engaged a man named Weinburger to work for him. After a day's work the new hand struck for higher wages; an altercation ensued, and Weinburger drew a knife, stabbed his employer and fled.

Our readers may remember a paragraph of some days ago, stating that a man in New York had been unjustly accused of an attempt to kill a watchman, and had been in prison for a year or more, but that a burglar recently caught, had made a confession, entirely exonerating him. It now seems as though this was merely the dodge of a thief, who was sure of a term of years on another charge, to free from confinement one of his old companions. The watchman who was shot in the first case is still quite unshaken in his belief that Griffith was the man who did the deed.

Mr. Kensil, son of R. F. Kensil of Oldtown, says the Bangor Whig, fell from the night train from this city to Oldtown on Wednesday morning, insensible, but still alive. So great was the crowd on the cars that he was not missed, and the first that was known of the accident was the discovery the next morning. He was insensible at the latest accounts, and no hopes are entertained of his recovery.

During a fire in Broadway, New York, on Wednesday night, a mother threw her two children from a third floor window, and jumped out after them herself. An awning saved the little ones from harm, but broke beneath the weight of the mother, whose feet were badly injured.

Some time since, it was stated that a diabolical attempt was made in Cleveland to flow a man's head off by leaving upon his office table some fibbers charged with detonating powder. The fellow who placed these infernal machines upon the table has been discovered, tried, convicted, and sentenced to five years imprisonment.

An enthusiastic spectator of Blondin's recent performances thus takes his flight in the columns of a Buffalo paper—"Our wonder is only equalled by our admiration of the coolness and courage of the performer, who notwithstanding the assaults of the Gothamite journalists still lives, and has recorded his name where it shall not be effaced till the mighty catanet in sight of which it was accomplished shall have passed from existence."

It is reported that, on Saturday afternoon, a man named Rousseau was carried over the Falls of Niagara. He lived at Chippewa, and had been over to Schlosser in a boat. Just before the gale commenced blowing, he started to return, but is believed never to have reached the other shore. Pieces of a boat, thought to be his, were found at a later hour on the shores of Goat Island, leading to the belief that he went over the Canada Fall.

In Albany, on Tuesday evening, an Irish woman, with an infant in her arms, rolled down Eagle street hill into Canal street, a distance of seventy-five feet. To the astonishment of all, the woman was but slightly hurt, though the child was badly injured. The above is rather a steep story.

DR. C. P. BRONSON'S NEW CURES.

For Consumption, Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, and all other Chronic Diseases arising from Over-Use, General Debility, or Nervous Prostration.

These new and successful preparations of food for the blood (based upon its analysis in HAVANA, which gives the true standard, and in different DISORDERS when we ascertain the deficiencies in each case and supply them with the proper materials for making pure and healthy blood), are among the most important discoveries of the age. They are destined to produce a revolution in the treatment and cure of CHRONIC DISEASES, by having a perfect scientific foundation, they are far removed from the sphere of all nostrums and Patent Medicines. Physicians of all schools are using these PREPARATIONS (not Medicines) with the most satisfactory results. They are taken by drops, not spoonfuls.

THEIR RANGE OF CURE: CONSUMPTION, THROAT DISEASES, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLIC, DYSPEPSIA, LIVER COMPLAINTS, HEADACHES, PALPITATION OF THE HEART, NEURALGIA, LOSS OF APPETITE, INABILITY TO SLEEP, DEPRESSION OF SPIRITS, IRREGULARITIES AND MALES AND FEMALES WEAKNESS, &c. In all cases of Chronic complaints peculiar to FEMALES, these Preparations will be found invaluable. These Preparations are of any new kind.

Be particular, in ordering, to mention which of the following PREPARATIONS are required, and be sure to get the Liver Complaint, &c. Syrup, or Dyspepsia, (which is the most successful in 24 or 36 information, are more successful in the moderate cases, one will suffice.

There are three Preparations, one for Consumption in all its various forms; one for Liver Complaints and their attendants, (to which particular attention is called,) and one for Dyspepsia. Out of nearly two thousand strongly marked cases there have not been twenty failures.

From numerous testimonials we select the following: A VERY INTERESTING CASE. Mr. D. L. ELDER, (of the City,) well known as one of the most highly educated cases of Consumption, Messrs. HONABLE GREELY and W. C. BRYANT, (of the Tribune and Post), are familiar with the following facts and circumstances: Mr. ELDER was actively engaged in the last Presidential campaign, and his intense labors, day and night, broke down his health, which had not been good for many years; this was followed by a severe cough and bleeding from the lungs, which continued down to last December, when he commenced using one of these Preparations. For the previous two months he had every day, sometimes quite profusely, and his cough was terrible. In a month's time he was able to be about through the city during all weathers, and in less than two months after beginning to use the remedy, he was engaged in canvassing the city, and was on his feet nearly all the time from 9 o'clock in the morning till four in the afternoon, conversing with hundreds of persons, and transacting a large amount of business. He is now as hearty a looking man as one in a thousand. His present residence is at 662 Madison street, New York.

Dr. Bronson can be consulted either by letter, addressed to Box 3838, P. O., or at the office of the General Agents from 9 to 12. These Preparations can be obtained through any respectable Druggist in the United States or Canada. Price $1 per Bottle, with full directions. All orders must be addressed to HENRY R. CURRIEL & Co., General Agents. jy8-d&wly 30 MADISON-LANE, NEW YORK.

THE GREAT WONDER OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY.
PROFESSOR WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

Says the St. Louis (Mo.) Democrat: Below, establish a letter to Dr. Wood of this city, from a gentleman in Maine, who speaks glowingly of the superior merits of his hair tonic. Such evidence must have its effect, when coming from a reliable source. If certificates are guarantees of truth, the Dr. needs no encomiums, nor useless puffery from the press: BATZ, MAINE, Jan. 29, 1859.

Professor O. J. Wood & Co.
GENTLEMEN: Having my attention called a few months since to the highly beneficial effects of your hair restorative, I was induced to make application of it upon my own hair, which had become quite grey, probably one-third white; my whiskers were of same character. Some three months since I procured a bottle of your hair restorative, and used it. I soon found it was proving what I had wished. I used it about a week. I have since procured another bottle, of which I have used some. I can now certify to the world that the grey or white hair has totally disappeared, both on my head and face, and my hair has resumed its natural color, and I believe, more soft and glossy than it has been before for twenty-five years. I am now sixty-two years old; my good wife at the age of fifty-two has used it with same effect.

The above notice I deem due to you for your valuable discovery. I am assured that whoever will rightly use, as per directions, will not have occasion to contradict my statement. I am a citizen of this city and a resident here for the last fifteen years, and am known to nearly every one here and adjoining towns. Any use you may make of the above, with my name attached, is at your service, as I wish to preserve the benefits of nature in others as well as myself. I am, truly, yours, A. C. RAYMOND, Baltimore, Jan. 29, 1859.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.
Professor Wood—Dear Sir: Having had the misfortune to lose the best portion of my hair, from the effects of the yellow fever, in New Orleans in 1818, I was induced to make a trial of your preparation, and found it to answer to the very thing needed. My hair is now thick and glossy, and no words can express my obligations to you in giving to the afflicted such a treasure.

FINLEY JOHNSON.
The undersigned, Rev. J. K. Dragg, is a minister in regular standing, and pastor of the Orthodox Church at Brookfield, Mass. He is a gentleman of great influence and universally beloved. WAL. CYR, Brookfield, January 12, 1859.

Professor Wood—Dear Sir: Having used and tried your Hair Restorative, I give you pleasure to say, that its effect has been excellent in removing inflammation, dandruff and a constant tendency to itching with which I have been troubled from my childhood; and has also restored my hair, which was becoming grey, to its original color. I have used no other article with anything like the same pleasure or profit.

J. K. DRAGG.
The Restorative is put up in Bottles of 2 sizes, viz: large, medium and small; the small holds 1 1/2 pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty percent more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars a bottle; the large holds a quart, 40 percent more in proportion and retails for $3 a bottle.

O. J. WOOD & CO. Proprietors, 312 Broadway, New York, (in the great N. Y. Way Building, Establishment,) and 114 Market St., St. Louis, Mo.

Aud sold by all good Druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers.

Coal and Wood.
LOBBERTY Coal—This subscriber has just landed the first cargo of the season of this very popular and desirable Coal. To those who had it last year it needs no recommendation. All who have not used it should not fail to give it a trial. I confidently recommend it as a superior article, and the best fire burning coal yet offered in this market. It can be had, in prime order, for under one year, secured from fires, and unaltered with any other coal, from CHAS. WILLIAMS.

TRIVERTON COAL—Superior to Frank or any other Anthracite coal, and can be used with ease, comfort and economy. Will burn small quantities, requiring less kind
